

Can we use fast radio bursts to study AGN feedback?

Adam Batten
Swinburne University of Technology

- Of the order 10^4 - 10^5 localised FRBs are needed to differentiate between different AGN feedback in EAGLE.
- The most powerful FRBs for constraining feedback are at redshift $z \sim 0.2$.
- More large box simulations with different galaxy feedback prescriptions are needed.

